

D10 Part V: PBL Hometown Tour Site Considerations Guide & Guiding Questions

There are 7 Different Types of Sites you all will be visiting & investigating (Historic, Economic, Cultural / Entertainment, Public, Natural, Cuisine, & Lodging that I'd like you to share as you create a guided tour for people visiting your chosen community. Below are each of them with details on questions you ought to try and answer when visiting / investigating these sites:

Historic Sites: (to qualify as historic, the site ought to go back at least ~50 years)

Historic sites are areas that in the past (and hopefully present!) have been important to the community. Examples might include some of the older buildings / sites in the area, etc. The National Register of Historic Places does a pretty good job of listing many of the historic sites around (see: <https://goo.gl/mUU9LD> for many such sites). As you visit, investigate and then describe your main chosen historic site for your tour, consider the following questions:

- When the site built? How old is it?
- What was its original function / purpose when it was built? Has this changed over the years? Explain!
- How much of the building is original? Has it been remodeled? Explain!
- What is its current use? What does the future hold for it?
- *Any interesting or unique facts / things? Share! (*this question can be asked of any site, but worth asking!)

Economic:

Economic sites would most likely be businesses that have had an important impact on the community. Perhaps they hire a good number of people, or provide a unique service that people depend on, etc. For example, Novell was a company that hired a lot of people in the Provo area for many years. As you visit one of these, consider the following:

- Why is this business important to the local economy?
- What things are created / services done at this business? What is the thing / service they sell / do the most of?
- How many people in the local community are employed by the business?
- What is the skill / education level of the business' employees? Who does the company like to hire?

Cultural / Entertainment:

Cultural sites / events, etc. are places / things related to artistic, religious or social pursuits that are considered valuable and / or enjoyable to the community. Examples might include Community Theater, pageants, community events, sports teams, etc.

- How does this site / event / business / etc. contribute to the culture of the community?
- When was it started / built? What was the purpose of it, and has that changed? Explain!
- What are some cool, interesting things one might see here?
- Why do people enjoy this site / event? What does the future hold for it?

Public:

Public sites would be areas that are used for public gatherings, services, etc. Examples might include a city park, a library, community center, church, public high school, and so on.

- Why is this site important to the local community? Is it used for any special events?
- When was it first created? Why, and has its purpose changed over the years? Explain!
- What is unique about the site that makes it worth visiting? Etc.

Natural Sites:

These are places that have minimal human-environment interaction, and are of interest for their beauty and / or preservation of natural plants, animals, landscapes, etc. Examples might include recreation / wilderness areas, protected environments, museums dedicated to protecting / education about such resources, etc.

- What is unique about this site that draws locals and others here? (Geography, things of note, etc.)
- What sort of plants, animals, etc. can be seen here? How should one act around these things?
- Is this site protected in some way? What might we do to better help preserve it?
- What activities are allowed here? Any suggestions you might make to visitors? Explain!

Cuisine:

Every tourist likes to see cool sites, but they also have to eat. Consider these 3 different sites, as follows:

1. Local, Home-town cooking: Highlight a local food business that is not a big franchise (unless it started locally).
2. Fine Dining: Discuss a place that's more fancy; sometimes people like to eat at really nice restaurants!
3. Dessert: Sometimes it's nice to go and just get an ice cream, snack, etc! Share a local place to do this!

Consider the following questions:

- When was this place made into a food establishment? Does it serve any other purpose? Explain!
- What type of food does it offer (Mexican, American, etc.)? Is it more fancy, traditional, dessert focused, or a combination of these?
- What do you suggest someone try? Eat some of the food, and share! Idea: Ask the owners / managers if they have anything that is unique, special, local, etc. that they are proud of.

Lodging:

Tourists are going to want to know where they ought to stay while visiting your town. Give them some ideas about some unique, local places they might stay (e.g. Bed and Breakfast, Airbnb, etc.):

- What options do they have for lodging accommodations in your chosen community? Compare these!
- What costs are associated with their options? What do the guests receive in return?
- Which would you highlight as an "Editor's Choice", or which would be your top pick for a place to stay with some reasons why?
